Lee Bouldin serves as Dean of Students and Spiritual Formation, and Assistant Professor, for the College of Biblical Studies. He administers the spiritual formation programs and helps create a spiritual environment that reflects the CBS mission and contributes to personal and organizational transformation. Lee has been on staff with CBS since 2000, having previously served as Director of Communications, Manager of Enrollment Marketing and, initially, Director of Development.

Attending CBS as a student strengthened Lee's passion for God's Word and discipleship. Having enjoyed the privilege of being discipled by a CBS professor, he was inspired to enroll at Dallas Theological Seminary to hone his skills and better prepare himself for service to the body of Christ (MBTS, 2017).

Lee has been a member of BridgePoint Bible Church (Houston) since 2008, where his service to the body includes Bible & theology teacher, spiritual encourager, and (most recently) lay elder. He is also a certified "Relational Wisdom Presenter" with Ken Sande's Relational Wisdom 360 organization. His ministry involvement has included homeless shelter Bible teaching and mentorship, and initiatives for multicultural unity and prison ministry development.

Brother Bouldin is a native of Houston, Texas. He studied graphic design at the University of Houston (BFA, 1989), where he qualified for the Yale University summer design program in Brissago, Switzerland (1987). He worked for a corporate branding and design firm for 12 years before being called to CBS. Lee's hobbies include studying history and biographies to learn from those who have made a difference, and hiking and kayaking in God's inspiring outdoors with his courageous soulmate, Sheila Joy!
